

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to a testing method for designing a semiautogenous or an autogenous grinding circuit with at least one ball mill for grinding ore. In the 5 method the ore is tested in two separate testing steps using the same testing sample of ore.